Weather Probabilities. March 14, 1881 .-For the middle States fair weather, northwest to northeast winds, generally lower temperature and higher barometer.

Mysterious Drowning,-Yesterday morn ing, about ten o'clock, while Mr. Charles W. Bell was walking on the wharf of Messrs. J. P. Agnew & Co., foot of Wolf street, he discovered, lying on the shore in the dock, the body of a man, which had evidently been wash ed up and left there by the receding tide. He informed the watchman, Mr. Wm. Clarke, of the circumstate, and the Coroner, Dr. Powell, was not fied. Constable Equis summoned a try, corsisting of John II. Thompson, foreman, J. R. Gray, Edward Davis, Wm. Dobie, John Gentzmore, and John Lawler, who at 12 o'olock held an inquest over the bedy which had been removed from the river to the bloomery of Messrs, Agrew & Co. Several parties recegnized the corpse as that of a man they had met in this city Saturday last, and testified that the dictased had stated to them that he was a e gar maker from Baltimore; that his wife had died about s'x monts ago, since which time he had found it very herd to make a living. The witnesses supposed the man came here in search of work. The peckets of the clothing on the hody were searched, and a buckskin purse containing four cents, a pair of kid gloves and a receipt from Buker & Wagner, a tobacca firm in Baltimore, to "U. W. Corgley" were found. The name on the receipt, "U. W. Corg leg," is a apposed to be the name of the drowned man, but noting certain regarding his history could be escentaiced. He was about sixty years of eg., short and stout, hair gray, short chin whiskers, and was wall dressed. He was sach on Saturlay in several schoos, but was not at all intextented. He told several parties he mot in the city that he had been suffering with the dropey for several y ass. After all the evidence was in, the jury rendered a verdict of accidental drawning, and the body wasturned over to Mr. B. Wheatly, undertaker, who interred it in Penny Hill turying around. It is supposed by some that the man was on his way to a steamer lying at Mr. Accom's whart Saturday night, he fell into the rier and was drowned. Others thick that he was stricken with apoplexy, as his features showed no evidence of a death s tuegle. The circumstances of the death, however, must, of course, remain shrouded in DISCRUNTLED GUESTS -The brackers at the City Hotel, in this city, -some of whom had paid in advance—were much surprised on re-usiring to the dining room of that hotel on Satthe nest cakes and juice steads dencing through their heads, to flud themselves in one f frigid temperature and as bare of anything in the estable line as the mythical Mother Huband probably irate thoughts, a reconneisance of the building was commenced when the front door was found to be locked. They, however, soon gained egress to the street, and repaired to various other places in quest of breakfast. It appears that the proprietor, Mr. E. M. Lowa-being financially embarrassed, and sorely press-of by importunate creditors, had adopted the ting honored Arabic custom of vanishing at multight, while deep sleep residered his guests unconscious of the proceedings. Most of the faculture was conveyed in wagons over the road or Washington, but a small lot which had been soul to the ctembest where for shipment to that the delinquent host left behind him quite a number of unpaid to he-one of $100 for rent alone.

THE FEAST OF PURIM .- The Hebrew Les i vol of Purim begins this evening. It is the most byous of Hebrew hollays. It common states the deliverence from death of the He arews hving under the Persian Menarch Ahasucrus. The story, how Esther, who became the King's wife, and Mordeesi, the Jew. saved the Hebrews under the Persian empire from destruction, and the elevation of Mordecai and the hanging of Haman on the gallows prenared by the latter for Mordecai, is related in the Book of Esther. The festival has been chserved by the Hebrews from time immemorial. The Book of Esther is chanted in the synagogues and hymns of joy and thanksgiving are

A CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS .- A few eveniogs since Officer Quion heard cries and calls for help in a tenement in North Fouth street, Williamsburgh. Hastening to the room from which the shouts and screams proceeded the officers found Mrs. Doylo belaboring her husband with a club. The man was writhing, yelling and cursing on the bed. He was unable to get away from the blows, which as they fell fast and heavy upon him, were accompanied with the interrogatory: "So ye'll get drunk again? All right: I'll just bate what little is in you cut." The officer, as he locked upon the scene, could not restrain his laughter. Mrs. Doyle had her husband tightly fastened in the bed c'othes. He had, as usual, she sail, pausing to get breath in her work, como home druck and rolled into the bed. When the tenants, as she returned to the thrashing, "Now that you've got him, I'd give it to him "Oh, never fosr," and the bludgeon good." fell quick and heavy upon him. Poor Mr. Doyle shricked with pain, yelled and promised to do whatever she'd ask if she would only leave a whole bone in his body. On promising that he would drink no more, at least during Len!, and that he would take the pleden at Easter for one year, he was released, -N. Y.

VIRGINIA BENIS, & c .- J. A. Hambleton Co.'s Baltimore Pinancial Circular of Saturday last

Virginia bonds were du'l and inactive. Transactions were small and prices were off about one per ceut. Comobe opened at 832 and declined to 81, and again advanced to 831. Ten-forties sold from 53 down to 52. Peeters brought 331. Virginia deformed 151 and 16. Consol coupons 94 and 10.40 coupons 65. Virginia coupons which and 10 40 coupons 95. Virginia conso's, which action, are now selling at about 83. For the past six months these bonds have been purchased continuous'y for foreign account, and many mil lions of them have been thus withdrawn from our market. It is a noterious fact that the Virginia holders have long since sold cut, and we may say that very few bonds are now held by our people. Ten-forties are held largely by our own people, and are also bought with much confidence by Virginia investors. Unless some more decided stand is taken in Virginia politics, in regard to the debt, the market value of Virginia bonds and especially of consols in our opinion will be seriously effected, and we have advised our readers that the 10 40 bonds, having advanced so much less than consols, are the

R. H. Maury & Co's. Richmond circular of samo dato says:

Virginia coupors were to-day relieved of the tax imposed by the State, when tendered for taxes and both classes are now received at their face value. This must be very pleasing to the holders of the consol bonds, for it has had a happy effect upon the prices, and they marked a rise of 1 per cent to-day. We expect to see coupons fetch very much higher figures than heretofore, and those who have any amount of taxes to pay, would do well to supply their wants at present queleting. taxes to pay, would do well to supply their wants at present quotations. The amount of taxes to be paid before June 33th. next. is about $1,00,000. There were only $750,000 coupons outstanding in February last, since which time, of course, many have been taken in. Thus the supply is less than half the amount which can be used. It would seem that the bears are again at work with the bonds to cover shortages made during the autumn months, the greater made during the autumn months, the greater pert of which are still uncovered. We cannot ascribe any reason for the docline except the above and the unfavorable effect of the Fau-quier resolutions, and should they still continue to be depressed, we would advise purchases, as we feel confident of higher figures in the near we feel confident of higher figures in the near future. It is worthy of note that all classes of Virginia bonds held their own with remarkable pertinacity during the late stringent money market. At present rates the consols pay about 62 per cent upon their price, and as all sound securities, which pay anything like that rate, are rapidly advancing, we would not be surprised to see these bond reach 90. The 10 40s are certainly the cheapest of the two. for their rate of interest increases to 8 per cent upon the rate of interest increases to 8 per cent upon the investment after the next eight years, and after wards it is still further increased to 10 per cent.
